

University of Richmond - Weinstein Center for Recreation
Membership Subsidy Program

In support of University Recreation's mission, vision, and core values, the Weinstein Center for Recreation offers financial assistance to students, employees and alumni who are applying for paid membership. Below are the guidelines:

- University of Richmond students, employees and alumni are eligible to apply.
- Subsidized membership expires after one year.
- Prospective member must complete this Membership Subsidy Program Request Form for consideration.
- Member receiving subsidy is eligible to reapply after membership expires.
- If approved, the cost of membership will be subsidized by 50%.
- Marketing & Membership Coordinator will review requests and make recommendations to the Operations Manager and Director of University Recreation.
- Decisions will be based on the applicant's written justification to provide evidence of financial need.
